```
Verse   A                                   G
          Some days we get a thrill in our brains
                     E     G     A
        Some days it turns into malaise
                                  G
        You see your face in the veneer
                           E    G A
        Reflected on the surface of fear
                                          G
        Because you know we re better than that
                                     E   G  A
        But some days we re worse than you can imagine
                                          G
        And how am I supposed to live with that
                                    E    G    A
        With all these train wrecks coming at random

Chorus                          F
        Hey what are you gonna do
                   G                A
        When those walls are falling down
                        G      E G A
        Falling down on you

                                F
        Hey what are you gonna do
                   G                A
        When those walls are falling down
                        G           E G A
        Falling down on you

Verse                                       G
        You got warheads stacked in the kitchen
                                  E    G  A
        You treat distraction like it s a religion
                                          G
        With a rattlesnake step in your rhythm
                                 E      G      A
        We do the best with the souls we ve been given
                                                  G
```

```
        Because you know we re nothing special to them
                                   E      G   A
        We re going some place they ve already been
                                                 G
        Trying to make sense of what they call wisdom
                                     E     G  A
        And this riff raff ain t laughing with them

Chorus                          F
        Hey what are you gonna do.
                   G                A
        When those walls are falling down
                        G    E G A
        Falling down on you

                                F
        Hey what are you gonna do.
                   G                A
        When those walls are falling down
                        G    E G A
        Falling down on you

Verse                                            G
        You re wearing all of the years on your face
                              E    G     A
        Turn a tombstone you roll into place
                                          G
        And your heart only beats in a murmur
                                 E    G   A
        But your words ring out just like murder
