Fallen Angel
Neil Young

This is my first post here so please go easy onme with the corrections.
Although I don t think there should be any.

Please send any corrections to JScheerz@aol.com

FALLEN ANGEL
Neil Young

This song is originally played on the organ. But sounds pretty good on a guitar. Try playing it with a lot of reverb. For a neat undertone effect try having a friend playing the chords lightly with some distortion and feedback.

Intro: G (Let ring)

```
F        F/F#  Bb                C        F
Fallen angel who s your savior tonight
F        F/F#          Bb             C                     F
You re surrounded by these walls and neon lights
F         F/F#    Bb              C                         F
Hungry people move like waves behind the beat
F                F/F#        Bb                 C                 F
Where s the big drum where s the feel of body heat
F                F/F#        Bb                 C                 F
Where s the big drum where s the feel of body heat
```

```
**************************************************
*                            *                    JSCHEERZ@AOL.COM
                    *
*          ___             *
                                                                  *
*         [      ]          ************************************
*         [      ]          *
*           |_ |            *
*           |_ |            *
*           |_ |            *
*           |_ |            *
*        _ |_ |_           *
*     (              )       *
*      \           /        *
*        )       (          *
*      /           \        *
*    /               \      *
*   (                  )    *
*    ----------      *
****************
```