Acordesweb.com

I Wonder In Whose Arms
Chas & Dave

```
    F#                                                    C#
I wonder in whose arms you are tonight
     C#                                                      F#
I wonder does he think he s doing alright
 Eb                                            G#
I don t really care but still I wonder
G#                                                         C#
Just how long he takes to see the light

      F#                                                   C#
I wonder if you use the same old lines
        C#                                                     F#
The ones you used to whisper all the time
 Eb                                        G#
Please believe me I ain t sorry that I lost you
             F#                        C#                       F#
But I wonder in whose arms you are tonight
```