Good Morning Planetarium Acoustic
Falling Up

```
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------
                  Good Morning Planetarium - Falling Up
-------------------------------------------------------------------------------
Tabbed by: dialtoneglow
Email: dialtoneglow@gmail.com

Tuning: Half Step Down
      F#    Dm   C#    B    F#2
e|----0----0----0----0----0-------------------------------------------------|
B|----0----0----0----0----0-------------------------------------------------|
G|----1----6----4----2----9-------------------------------------------------|
D|----2----6----4----2----9-------------------------------------------------|
A|----2----4----2----0----7-------------------------------------------------|
E|----0----0----0----0----0-------------------------------------------------|

Dm              C#
   The fight is over now,
B                   F#2     C#
   the bright lights turned somehow
Dm                C#
   The strength I have is running out,
B              F#2    C#
   the current pulls me down

B            C#
   I m wondering

           F#                C#             Dm       B
Is anybody out there, who s cold and incomplete, inside?
                F#       C#               Dm     B
I can hear Him calling Come and follow me, my child

Dm              C#
   The twilight turns to day,
B                F#2   C#
   with all your love displayed
Dm                C#
   The stars they bow in awe,
B                F#2     C#
   when the lost return to you

B            C#
   I m wondering
```

```
            F#                  C#              Dm       B
Is anybody out there, who s cold and incomplete, inside?
                F#       C#                Dm     B
I can hear Him calling Come and follow me, my child

F#2           C#                          Dm             C#
Draws up my heart deep from the well deep from the well
             F#2             C#                Dm           C#
I know He s Finding every lost and broken dream
```