You May Be Right Grapes of Wrath
==========

Intro: G F / Em A (3 x) G C G

                 G         F                      Em       A
Its been far too long, you know I ve never been a friend
                G           F                       Em      A
You can t see a thing - the more I try the less you know
                    G            F                            Em
So don t ask what s wrong, I ll tell you all the same things again
     A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again
     A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again

                    C        Bb                F            Ab
Chorus:  You may be right, I don t want to see you tonight
                       C          Bb             F          Ab
         So don t call back, I ll probably never see you again
                         C           Bb                   F
         Don t ask what s wrong, I ll try to make you understand
             Ab                Am
         And tell you all over again
         D                        C
         Tomorrow will be nothing then.

            G     F                    Em     A
No point of view, depending on who you knew
            G                            Em     A
Take me out fast and never let it happen again
                    G            F                            Em
So don t ask what s wrong, I ll tell you all the same things again
      A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again
      A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again

Chorus:

Solo:  ---5-3-2-3-2-0-1-0-------:|----5-3-2-7-5-3-6-5-3-2-3-2-0-----|  slide
       -3-----------------3-1---:|--3----------------------------3---|  guitar
       -------------------------:|-----------------------------------|  with
chorus
       -------------------------:|-----------------------------------|  and
       -------------------------:|-----------------------------------|  reverb
       -------------------------:|-----------------------------------|

                  G         F                          Em       A
It s been far too long, I thought you re name was history
             G       F                        Em       A
And then one day, I saw your face in front of me
                    G            F                            Em
So don t ask what s wrong, I ll tell you all the same things again
     A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again
     A                            G
I ll tell you all the same things again ...

Chorus:

Interlude is verse chords. Outro repeats solo.
