Em                      Am
In this petal of storms here
          G            C    Em
I will whisper to you this
Em                      Am
Phoney paternalism has bitten the dust
          G            C    Em
What shall be will be and must
Em                      Am
Many shades of rose have fled the nest
          G            C    Em
Behind a vast amass emptiness
C                        Em              G
They were stupid, blind, not even our kind
D             Am             C
A guest and a loss and a ghost
Em                   G
A villain thanks the most
          C                    Em           G
Better an end with fear than a fear without end
D             Am             C
This time the victim is desire
Em               G
