Let Go
Kenny Wayne Shepherd

As far as I know, this is correct. It you can sing over the chords with no problem. If anyone has legitimate chords let me know. I figured this out a few nights ago. Its only the chords that Noah Hunt plays on acoustic while Kenny is busy doing his thing. Ok enough talk, you came for chords.

Side note, its pretty obvious if you know the song but you keep playing the d chord in between lines in the verse

```
D                       C    G        D
In a room filled with dried tears of sorrow
D                C       G      D
You come in and lay down by my side
D                   C   G      D
When you feel the same way tomorrow
D                         C    G      D
 Cause you smile just as easy as you cry
C                           G
Was it wrong to be good to you
G                        D
Was it wrong to be your man
C                              G
 Cause I ain t getting through to you
F                              G
