Acordesweb.com

Because Of You
Gene Clark

email: eponine@suninternet.com
group: Gene Clark
name: Tish
song: Because Of You

B A E B A G#m

```
B                   E                        B                G#m
You toss your head and turn your eyes when storm clouds brew
B                    E                  B                  G#m
You look around to quick relate to a good time you knew
C#m                         B    A              E
Then the dark clouds break away and a rainbow comes on through
B                   E             B              G#m
The sun I see only shines for me because of you
B                E                    B             G#m
Before this time we both saw blind in spite of fact
B                      E                B             G#m
We lost our place and made no haste to make contact
C#m            B        A        E
Now by what we gain the taste of one and two
B             E                  B        G#m B A E B A G#m
I m satisfied beneath my pride because of you
A                    E                G#              F#
And now the worth of living wealth is more in the end
A                 E                   G#              F#
And now the price of simple things is not so much to spend
B                      E               B          G#m
So close your eyes and pick a place to fly away
B                    E                  B       G#m
And think of reasons why this warmth is here to stay
C#m                         B          A       E
Then the dark clouds break away and a rainbow comes on through
B                   E                B          G#m
The sun I see only shines for me because of you
         B              E                B
Yes, the sun I see only shines for me because of you
```