When The Credits Roll
George Strait

Capo is on 4th Fret. Hope you enjoy!
Verse 1:

                A                           E
F#m    D
I ve played the rebel teenager, the mysterious stranger, The wild child on the run,
          A                                E
F#m    D   A
I ve been the college dropout, the commitment cop out, The comin  home prodigal son
F#m                       D       F#m                                          D

It feels kinda like a movie, Makes me wonder what I m gonna see

Chorus:
               A                 E                          F#m
    D
When the credits roll and the show is over, and I see all the parts I played
                   A         E                        F#m                    D
Get a glimpse of my soul up on that screen, I only hope I can say
              F#m                                      D
I was a little less villain, And a little more hero,When the credits roll

Verse 2:
                  A                E                          F#m
      D
Was I in it for the money was I trying  to be funny, Was it all about me being right,
                  A                E                          F#m
      D
Was I a stand up witness did I offer some forgiveness, to help somebody see the light,
        F#m                                D       F#m
When the curtain comes down some day, I wonder what the crtic ll say

Chorus:

       A                  E                          F#m                        D

When the credits roll and the show is over, and I see all the parts I played
               A         E                        F#m                    D
Get a glimpse of my soul up on that screen, I only hope I can say
```

       F#m                                        D
I was a little less villain, And a little more hero,When the credits roll

Outro:
          A                                   E            F#m
     D
When the credits roll, and the show is over, and I see all the parts Ive played
           A           E                      F#m                     D
Get a glimpse of my soul up on that screen,I only hope I can say,
I was a little less villain, and a little more hero, when the credits roll.
