The Demons In The Circle 1476

I wonder what s been going on with you since our lives got rearranged
And I know you fear and question things but, baby, it s not all that strange
You might grab your crucifix and pray and pray and pray
But we ll all haunt our old addictions by the end of the day
I know I sometimes smoke a lot and drink too much but my spirit s never changed
And everything that s ever happened, good or bad, has brought me to this day
And I know I sometimes stumble along the way
                                                                 F
But the fire in my heart has always kept the monsters at bay
We all come back to the places we know
You can t run from your only home
And, for all I ve seen, this is the only home I know
                            Dm
And, for all I ve seen, this is the only home I know [solo]
I drove up the hill so many times to see the sea that lies beyond the way
And after all these years of living here I ve finally come to love the grey
But a feeling of anxiety surrounds me in this place
                                                                         F
Because I ve got so much left to do before I can rest in this place
So I stare into this ocean s blue; as cold as a goddess
And I close my eyes and breathe the air knowing that I ll have to bide my time
                                    Dm
And know that I ll come back to the place I love someday
                                                          F
When all is said and done and nothing s in my way
