Cloudman

F             Bb   F
How much do I love you?
                     Bb6       F
Just as far as I can reach you now
                               Bb   F
But the floor feels cold this morning
       Bbmaj7                                Gm
Yes, I feel there s nothing left to teach you now
C     Bb    A              Dm
Soon, sweet lady, you will walk away from me
                G7        Bb
Into your own reality but please

Chorus:
              F           Gm7
Just remember air, air is everywhere
                    F
The cloudman always sees you turn
Am7                                     C           Bbmaj7
And waits to paint you pictures on the wind around you
Am7                          C    Bbmaj7
Please recall the days when love found you
F                                       Gm7
When the tide breeze rustling curtains in the summer evening
Bb      F       C\E       Dm
Bears the imprint of some distant twinkling chimes
F               Bb
Think about the cloudman sometimes

How much can I show
Just as far as I can see you now
But the rain dissolves the colors
Till it seems the image can hardly be you now
Cos short sighted rain that flows between your eyes
We cannot see our own goodbyes

Chorus
```
