               A             E            A    Asus4  A
Sometimes they ask me if I m really happy now
       A             E             A    Asus4  A7
I say, sure, I never loved her any-how
       D                           A              D
But in-side I long for you and the way it used to be
         A                   E                   A   Asus4  A
I look a-round and there s a heartache following me

         A            E                  A     Asus4  A
I always say that I m really glad you re gone
       A          E              A    Asus4  A7
I even act like I never cared at all
         D                         A            D
But your memory lingers on and I m never really free
         A                   E                   A    Asus4  A
I look a-round and there s a heartache following me

            E                         A
I pawned my ring and every-thing that tied me to the past
  B7                           E               E7
I say I never loved her, never meant for it to last
      D                              A              D
But I know it s just a game and the loser s always me
         A                   E                   A   Asus4  A
I look a-round and there s a heartache following me

               A             E            A    Asus4  A
Sometimes they ask me if I m really happy now
       A             E         A       Asus4  A
I say, sure, I never loved her anyhow
      D                            A              D
But inside I long for you and the way it used to be
         A                   E                   A   Asus4  A
