D                                                    A7
I often think about you baby it makes me want to cry
and I can t find the words to say for telling you goodbye.
                                                         A7
We ve been fighting all the time you know our days are few
                                                       D
Now I feel I m strong enough to say these words to you.

Chorus
            G                    D                        A7
        Goodbye..I m leaving you darling, there s to much pain
                         D     D7     G                   D
        There s too much sorrow...goodbye I m leaving you baby
                       A7                        D        A7
        Can t take the pain anymore goodbye I m leaving

D                                                          A7
I m tired of these lonely nights that you don t come right home
                                                     D
I stay up all worried about you and feeling all alone
                                                         A7
I tried so hard to talk things over but you don t understand
Cause your mind is occupied with another man.

Chorus
               A7                        D
Can t take the pain anymore goodbye I m leaving
               A7                            D    G        D        A7  D
Can t take the pain anymore goodbye I m leaving  / / / /  / / / /  /   /
