Nothing At All
Status Quo

Nothing At All
Status Quo
Spare Parts 1969

```
           D                          A
There s a man sitting in a concrete room
      Bm             G            A
In a place full of emptiness and gloom
          D                          A
With his head in his hands he s far away
        Bm        G               A
It s a long time ago since yesterday

             D                              C
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
         G         A        D
In his world of nothing at all
                                            C
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
         G         A        D
In his world of nothing at all
```

As a boy he had made so many friends
Now they re gone loneliness just never ends
And in that cold concrete room he trials the day
Yes, the price of a life is hard to pay

And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
In his world of nothing at all
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
In his world of nothing at all

|Em| |D|

```
            Em              D               Em  G  A
Close your eyes, there s nothing more to see
```

```
            G         A                      B
Close your eyes and thank the world you re free

|C#m| |G#7| |C#m| |G#7|

|C#m| |E| |F#| |B7|

           E                          B
There s a man sitting in a concrete room
      C#m            A            B
In a place full of emptiness and gloom
          E                          B
With his head in his hands he s far away
       C#m        A               B
It s a long time ago since yesterday

             E                               D
And now his hands, now his hands start to fall
         A        B         E
In his world of nothing at all etc...
```