A5                              D5
I get camping eyes in the final hour
                              A5
last minute shoppers picking cauliflour
                                                        D (no muting here)
The fuss they make, you d swear they were buying a car.
A                                   D
They always moan, moan it s not so cheap,
                                        A
Cheaper still, cheaper still down the street.
D                                 B                  A
Lose my rag, tell them take your bag, and shop down there.
                                                D
Closing down, they re closing down another road,
one way system steals the show.
D                     B
Mac the knife swigs a can and sings the day away

       A                   D              Dmaj/F#       E
theres more life more life more life in a tramp s vest
theres more life more life more life in a trapms vest

Flower man sits down in the street
Surrounded by the stock he brought back last week
Bring back the ladies wearing lipstick on their teeth
Make up, we make up a crappy joke
Sit back, relax and have a smoke
Mac the Knife swigs a can and sings the day away

theres more life more life more life in a tramps vest
theres more life more life more life in a tramps vest

i get camping eyes in the final hour
last minute shoppers picking cauliflour
mac the knife swigs a can and sings the day away
theres more life more life more life in a tramps vest
theres more life more life more life in a tramps vest
