MARIANAS TRENCH - Alibis
Standard Tuning: EADGBE

D                           Bm
From the scrapes and bruises
                    G
To the familiar abuses
                 D                  A                 G
I ll kick and scream but it never changes anything

D                       Bm
I could spill my guts out
                                 G
Wearing my best little girl pout
                     D
And I almost missed it
            A                              G
But nobody said that this was gonna be easy

                 D
This is not the man I hoped to be, and
           Bm
I m just trying to stop the bleeding
      G
I don t know how to word it
         D
I just started to deserve it
    D                           G
And all my, all my faces are alibis
             G
And me, I m half the man I wanted to be

D                                Bm
Most times it all comes out wrong
                                        G
I don t know the words but I ll hum along
                     D                 A
There s nothing familiar here anymore
                   G                   D
to anyone or anything left to feel alive

D                                Bm
And I still taste that sickness
                                          G
And it makes me crazy without it at best
                     D                   A
But I m in the same place I used to be

                 G
But I m trying harder not to be

This is not the man I hoped to be
                Bm
And I m just trying to stop the bleeding
   G
I don t know how to word it
         D
I just started to deserve it
   D                           G
And all my, all my faces are alibis
             G
And me, I m half the man I wanted to be

Em                           G
So what am I? What am I? So what am I?

      D                           Bm
And all my, all my faces are alibis
This is not the man I hoped to be
         Bm
And I m just trying to stop the bleeding
     G
I don t know how the words go
          A
I just started not to say no

Don t want it, Don t get it
       D
I know you won t regret it
 Bm
Don t surface, Don t surface
      Bm
And I feel so damned worthless
          G              D                G
Another day is gone and all my faces are alibis
 D                  G
all my faces are alibis

     G                           D  Bm  G
I m half the man I wanted to be
