River City Sound - Joey
Misc Unsigned Bands

River City Sound (Joey)
Standard Tuning
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rQZot85C0xU
I do not take credit for this music. All credit goes to it s owner.

D G D A

D G D

A D G ohhh---------- can you feel the heat
D A
in the late october weather did you know that i could fall i never said i was

D G
D
together but im the perfect match for you joey sang in the mirror

A G
he believes in angry ghosts but hes never seen them clearer

D
how do we know when its the

A G D A G
right time to die how do we know when its the right time to die

D A
how do we know that this kiss------

Bm G D

will send you home----- woah----------

```
             A                                  Bm             G              D
ill follow you to the unknown were going home ----------------- woah---------

             A (Hold)                      D ill follow you to the unknown were going home
```

D G D A
D G D

```
A              D                         G                                     D woah----------     what joey never told you            he lived his life in fear

                                   A                                           D
his father worked the midnight shift       and his mother liked her liquor clear

                         G                                 D
see anabel roamin the halls   and joey made one suggestion

                      A                                           G
find your way back home           but she haunted with a question

             D
how do we know when its the

A                 G                  D                       A             G
right time to die       how do we      know when    its the right time to die

      D                    A
how do we know that this kiss------

                   Bm     G                D

will send you home----- woah------------------

             A                                  Bm             G              D
ill follow you to the unknown were going home ----------------- woah---------

             A (Hold)                      D (End)
ill follow you to the unknown were going home
```