Toaster In The Bathtub
Tony Sly

On a bit of a Tony Sly kick lately so I thought I would figure out a few tunes.

Toaster in the Bathtub

Tuning is DGCFAD - need to drop a whole step - sounds the most correct to me.

Intro:
A, E, D x2

```
         A
You re a flame and i m a candle
      E                 D
I m a wick and you re a breeze
      A
I m a rock and you re paper
        D               E
And i m scissors if you please

        F#m
You see i can t find myself these days
D
I don t know where to look
         A             E                 A
Turn the page, hit the lights, close the book

         A
You re a building, i m on fire
           E               D
You re the truth and i m a lie
      A
I m a toaster in the bathtub
         D             E
You re a beacon in the night

    F#m
But we suffer from the same disease
D
And play each other s games
         A          E
You re a day in the park
        A
I m the rain
```

```
                 D            A
So, get your get head off the ground
             F#m     E      A
And let your soul be found, yeah

A
I m a reason on a long list
E                     D
You re an angel and a saint
        A
I m the tears in your lap
        D                  E
And the time that you will waste

F#m
I hope that we can stitch it
   D
If we haven t broke the seams
        A              E
Life is short, is this all
         A
You have dreamed?

                 D            A
So, get your get head off the ground
             F#m     E
And let your soul be found,
                 D            A
So, get your get head off the ground
             F#m     E              A
And let your soul be found,
```
