```
C                 E7
You re free to go darling
F                       C
I ll break the ties that bind
G7                                          C
Somehow the dreams we planned have gone astray
G7             C   E7
You re free to go  darling
   F                 C
So ease your worried mind
           G7            C
I ll never stand in your way

           F               C
There s no ring or shining gold
   G7                 C
So strong that it can hold
  D7                     G7
A heart that longs to be free
             C    E7
The lips are cold darling
     F                C
That once said yes to me
                           G7
The tender glow is gone I know
You re free to go
