Party In My Pants
Roger Miller

The Chorus and verse are nearly identical with the exception of the Em on the third line.

```
          C                             G
There s a party in my pants and you re invited
                                 D
A big fiesta in my trousers I m excited
       G                              C
I m so happy my little cupcake I can t hide it
          G           D                G
There s a party in my pants and you re invited

    G                                    C
I m sick and tired of sad and broke and busted
    G                            D
I m takin  leave of my troubles today
Em                                     C
Hide everything you don t want to get shattered
      G                   D              G
Woah, Tonight we re gonna roll the rules away.
```

Chorus/intro repeat

If you re tired of knock knock jokes and conversation

Crank up the radio and kill the light

Let s get on this gay love celebration

We gonna party in my britches tonight
