         C#m                C#m                    E              B
Did you clean yourself For me last night Put the water out and donned a marigold

C#m              C#m           E         B
In your hair to bring me here         And tie one on you

C#m A E B

        C#m                C#m                      E                              B

Did you dress me down and liquor me up To make me last for the minute When the red comes over you

C#m                       C#m              E        B
Like it does when you re filled with love       Or whatever you call it

C#m A E B

       C#m                  C#m                  E              B
Do you feel alone when i m in my head While you wait for me To take my breath

   C#m                                E                B
Do you still feel clean,    When the only dirt is the dirt i left

C#m               C#m                  E            B
How can you blame yourself When i did everything i wanted to
