The Veils

Capo at 5th

Intro:

F G 2x

```
F                     G
He married young, all rather at his bride s insistance
F                  G
He played it dumb, walked the line of least resistance
F                    G
And payed no mind to this and that, no phony answers
F                     G
If we re going blind, Momma s heart and Daddy s cancers

E                                          Am
Turn from the rain for all the good it done you
E                                             Am
Turn from the rain you might as well have gone through
F               Am      E      F
But I ll try my hand at another one
F               Am               E         F
All things must pass that stand beneath the sun
F    E
Oh lord, Oh oh

F                        G

F                         G
And he raised the roof to see there d be no happy endings
F                           G
Out in the night, waited all night, returned at seven
F                          G
But I tell you son, either way it dies, it will not matter

E                                          Am
Turn from the rain for all the good it done you
E                                             Am
Turn from the rain you might as well have gone through
F               Am      E      F
But I ll try my hand at another one
F               Am               E         F
All things must pass that stand beneath the sun
