

Everything

A Cursive Memory

This is just a very simplistic form of the song. It s just four chords and it s great beginners. Please don t ridicule me if it s not to your pleasing.

Am                    C                                    G                                    F
This time I realize you re looking this way with your
                 Am      C      G      F
real eyes.

Am
You re the beat that can t stop,
                 C
the peak of plot,
                 G
the deep in my thought,
                 F
the time on my watch.

Am
You re the air that I breathe,
                 C                                    G
the world that I see, you are
                 F
You are.

C                                    G
I could never find a way or the right things to say,
F                                    Am
I guess I just didn t know how.

C                                    G
You see the longer that we wait, the more time things could take,
                 F                                    Am
I guess I ll have to spell it out...

Am      C                                    G
You re my E-V-E-R-Y-T-H-I-N-G
                 F
Everywhere, everytime, every-
Am      C                                    G
E-V-E-R-Y-T-H-I-N-G
                 F                                    Am      C      G      F
Everywhere, everytime, everything.
