

Think Of You
A Fine Frenzy

C

It s one hundred and nine degrees

Am

In this crowded room ,

No room to breathe

Dm

With walls as cold as a gallery

This is no place for me

Such hard faces set in smoke,

Am

The smell lingers in my clothes,

Dm

It s a bad night to be alone

But that s the way it goes,

C

And i think of you,

Am

Whenever life gets me down

C

I think of you

Am

Whenever you re not around

F D Bm

You rest your bones

C Am F

Somewhere far from my own,

C Am C

Yeah but you still pull me home

C

I thought i had it figured out

Am

In a brand new life

With a great big house

Dm

And green initials on the towels

I should be happy now

Well, you ve got yourself a family

Am

And you planted roots down by the sea

Dm

I saw you once on the street,

You didn't notice me

C

But i think of you,

Am

Whenever life gets me down

C

I think of you

Am

Whenever you're not around

F D F

You rest your bones

C Am F

Somewhere far from my own,

C Am C

Yeah but you still pull me home

( C Am C Am )

C

Just to put your mind at ease

Am

You don't owe me anything

Dm

You paid me well in memories?

C

And i think of you,

Am

Whenever life gets me down

C

I think of you

Am

Whenever you're not around

F D F

You rest your bones

C Am F

Somewhere far from my own,

C Am C

Yeah but you still pull me home

F C

You still pull me home

Am C

You still pull me home
