Intro:

Am

Back in the summer of '91

E

An angel with a lizard's tongue

Am

E

E7

Was screaming for a holy broken nose

Am

Linked to every class of men

E

Sprung out from the sparkling sins

Am

E

Leaning on the cold electric stove

Chorus 1:

X Am E Am

On a country road I swerved to the side

X Am E Am

Trying to avoid a country bumpkin

X Am E Am

Everyone's in line to meet with the man

X Am E Am

Who blatantly inspired his generation

Bridge 1:

Dm

When they shake his hand and their fingers explode

E

Breaking both our necks by the tips of our toes

G

Am

Then they turn to me, 'cause you died I suppose

E

But I can't seem to glance fast enough to be sure

Chorus 2:

X Am E Am
Back to summer days, cold hands on the beach
X Am E Am
Memories of thrills designed to please you
X Am E Am
Down the fragrant path I strayed towards the bath
X Am E Am
Suddenly I lived to learn to feed you

Bridge 2:

Dm
Down on bended knee, where I've been for a while
E
Set the record straight in the old fashioned style
G Am
Never took too much, though I should have made more
E
You are still my friend, though you were not before

X Am E E7 x2

X Am
