Rumors
Adam Lambert

```
                               G                              D
        G                                    Bm
I guess we re in deep, I guess we got higher You ll never believe what I heard on the wire
                        G                         D
G                                  Bm
I know it ain t right, it s getting so tired If we put up a fight, we ll be fueling the fire

                       G
   A
Oh, cause now all the things that we said and done Twisted around, turned  em
wrong
Bm                                              D
Feels like all the love is gone We lost it
        G                                          A
We get stuck up inside our heads Talk shit  til we re walking dead
Bm                                                    D
Talk shit  til we re walking dead (dead dead)

 G              A                             Bm
Why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D       G              A                           Bm
Yeah, why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D                                     G                          A
Oh, cause I don t need to lie to you You ll never break my heart
                  Bm                                           D
Yeah, you ll find the truth right here in my arms
                        G                   A
Bm        D
So can you tell me why do we care about the rumors, baby?

                       G                             D
   G                            Bm
The envy runs deep, the jealousy down low It s easy to see, but it s harder to let go
                       G
                 D
We ain t gonna hide (we ain t gonna hide) We know what they don t know
             G                         Bm
A hell of a ride, I swear I ll hold you close

                       G
   A
Oh, cause now all the things that we said and done Twisted around, turned  em
wrong
Bm                                              D
```

```
Feels like all the love is gone We lost it
         G                                             A
We get stuck up inside our heads Talk shit  til we re walking dead
Bm                                                  D
Talk shit  til we re walking dead (dead dead)

 G                A                          Bm
Why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D        G              A                          Bm
Yeah, why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D                                    G                          A
Oh, cause I don t need to lie to you You ll never break my heart
                  Bm                                        D
Yeah, you ll find the truth right here in my arms
                              G                  A
Bm        D
So can you tell me why do we care about the rumors, baby?

G                                       A
Try to keep an open heart, try to just let down your guard
Bm                                       D
   Don t, don t care about the rumors, babe
G                                       A
Get out of the gossip game, get out of the haterade
Bm                                                D
            G           A  Bm  D
  Don t, don t care about, don t care about, don t care about the rumors
G                                  A                      Bm
Rumors Rumors, don t care about the rumors

 G                A                          Bm
Why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D        G              A                          Bm
Yeah, why do we care about the rumors, baby?
D                                    G                          A
Oh, cause I don t need to lie to you You ll never break my heart
                  Bm                                        D
Yeah, you ll find the truth right here in my arms
                              G                  A
Bm        D
So can you tell me why do we care about the rumors, baby?
```