B
one night we lay beside each other, so close to a sweat

B
with two fans circling overhead, we sleep on borrowed time

C#
and the traffic lights direct empty roads, the stars can t break the city sky

E
but they still try despite what they know is already true

B
and tomorrow we ll take aim, just like a storm waiting for a calm

C#
i can feel everything coming in my chest, my heart s already pounding

E
my head s on far-off highways, sixteen years old, on a road that never ends

F# might drive into something that looks like a sunset,Let Ring

(Pause Playing)
and it lasts forever, and i never look back

(The next part is muted mostly listen to the song to get the rhythm)

from hoboken to l.a.

F#
from portland to gainesville

E
from the great plains to niagara

F#

route 66 straight to california

B

electric lights carry the night

F#

we move in 4/4 time

E

our feet on wheels and in the sky

F#

yes we re going cause we d die if we stayed here

B

F#

and those dying dreams will carry what s good, and real, and pure

E

F#

and the rest can burn in hell

B

and for the four-year-old girl found dead in a dumpster shot by her mother, her eulogy, the sound of construction through head-to-head traffic today is just another day.

C#

and me and my friends are just growing into the drunks and the liars that we ve always hated

E

every shortcoming has trapped us, every mistake is now our own infinite failure

B

so we steal every chance we get every advantage is taken when no one s looking

C#

we hide behind closed doors, and we don t stop till we are the people we ve decided we should be

i wanna be a shot heard round the world, fucking unstoppable this distance is not something we ll regret

F#

Let Ring

between here, and now, and then, and forever, and days after that till the very end

from hoboken to l.a.

F#

from portland to gainesville

from the great plains to niagara
