Today s the 4th of July
Another June has gone by

And when they light up our town I just think
Em F#m G
What a waste of gunpowder and sky

Em F#m G

F#m Bm G
I m certain I am alone
In harbouring thoughts of our home
F#m Bm C G
It s one of my faults that I can t quell my past
Em F#m G
I ought to have gotten it gone
Em F#m G
I ought to have gotten it

A G D Bm Em A G
Ooh baby I wonder if when you are older some day you ll wake up and say My God I should have told her what would it take?
But now here I am and the world s gotten colder
G F#m G F#m G
And she s got the river down which I sold her

F#m Bm G
So that s today s memory lane
With all the pathos and pain
F#m Bm C G
Another chapter in a book where the chapters are endless
Em F#m G
And they re always the same
A verse and a verse and refrain

[chorus]

G F#m G
And she s got the river down which I sold her
