[G] When I get even [D] more old [C] than I am now [G]
[G] I ll have a house [D] overlooking [C] the water [D]
[D] I ll read all the books [G] that I never [C] got round [G] to [G] And pile my [D] suitcases [C] up in the [D] corner

cho.

[D] The lights of the [G] city they [D] blink off and on [G] again
[G] Names in my [D] memory are [C] there, then they re [D] gone again
[D] Albums of [G] photographs [C] spread on the [D] floor again
[G] I ll spend my [D] evenings with [C] Katherine of [G] Oregon

2.

[G] I ll fill my [D] garage up with [C] things I ve no [G] use for [G] Obsolete [D] knick-knacks that [C] there s no [D] excuse for [D] I ll turn my [G] back on the [C] world s grand [D] illusions
[G] Take my [D] delights in the [C] simplest [D] amusements

cho.

[D] The lights of the [G] city they [D] blink off and on [G] again
[G] Names in my [D] memory are [C] there, then they re [D] gone again
[D] Albums of [G] photographs [C] spread on the [D] floor again
[G] I ll spend my [D] evenings with [C] Katherine of [G] Oregon

3.

[G] I ll wear my [D] clothes with their [C] colors all [G] clashing
[G] They ll be so [D] old that they ll [C] come back in [D] fashion
[D] I ll sit on the [G] beach with my [C] paper wrapped [D] luncheon
[G] I ll enjoy [D] being the [C] ancient [D] curmudgeon

cho.

[D] The lights of the [G] city they [D] blink off and on [G] again
[G] Names in my [D] memory are [C] there, then they re [D] gone again
[D] Albums of [G] photographs [C] spread on the [D] floor again
[G] I ll spend my [D] evenings with [C] Katherine of [G] Oregon
