

Northern Plains

Alan Doyle

-Standard Tuning-

-No Capo-

The chords are played as follows:

*All choruses and verses are played the same

D: xx0232

A: x02220

Bm: x24432

G: 320003

[Intro]

D, A (x4)

[Verse 1]

D A D
A stupid me, I took a morning picture
(D) A D
To send to you ten thousand miles away
(D) A D
The yolky sun rising on the snowfield
Bm D G
And I swore I wouldn't think of you today

[Verse 2]

The frozen line takes me across the border
A hundred years of horses lead the way
Why do stubborn leaves turn forever colder?
There's nothing left to cling to anyway

[Chorus]

G A
I know you'll break my heart again
D Bm
Somewhere on the northern plains
G A
Tired lovers left alone to lie
G A
Far beyond the golden grave
D Bm
An emptiness I can't explain
G A
Our hearts are always broken in the sky
(N.C.)
As the northern plains go by

[Instrumental]

D, A (x2)

[Verse 3]

Holding on to ghosts gets you nowhere
You ll burn, forgetting quietly each day
I ve never seen so far without an ocean
And I ve never longed for something more to say

[Chorus]

I know you ll break my heart again
Somewhere on the northern plains
Tired lovers left alone to lie
Far beyond the golden grave
An emptiness I can t explain
Our hearts are always broken in the sky

G

As the northern plains go by

[Bridge]

(G)

I don t know where the moments go

A

Or if love can be replaced

G

And I don t know why the morning snow

Reminds me of your face

[Chorus]

But I know you ll break my heart again
Somewhere on the northern plains
Tired lovers left alone to lie
Far beyond the golden grave
An emptiness I can t explain
Our hearts are always broken in the sky
As the northern plains go by
As the northern plains go by
As the northern plains go by

[End on D]
