dear mommas s boy

I know you ve had your butt licked by your mother I know you ve enjoyed all attention from her and every woman graced with your presence after dear narcissus boy

I know you ve never really apologized anything

I know you ve never really taken responsibility I know you ve never really listened to a woman

dear me-show boy

I know you re not really into conflict resolution or seeing both sides of every equation or having an uninterrupted conversation and any talk of healthiness and any talk of connectedness and any talk of resolving this leaves you running for the door why, why do I try to love you try to love you when you really don t want me to dear egotist boy

you ve never really had suffer any consequence you ve never stayed with anyone longer than ten minutes you ve never understand anyone showing resistance dear popular boy

I know you re used to getting everything so easily a stranger to the concept of reciprocity people honor boys like you in the this society and any talk of selflessness and any talk of working at this and any talk of being of service

why, why do I try to help you try to help you when you really don t want me to you go back to the women who will dance the dance you go back to your friends who will lick your ass you go back to ignoring all rest of us you go back to the center of your universe

dear self-centered boy

I don t know why I still feel affected by you I ve never lasted very long with someone like you I never did althrough I have to admit I wanted to

dear magnetic boy you ve never been with anyone who doesn t take your shit you ve never been with anyone who s dared to call you on it I wonder how you d be if someone were to call you on it and any talk of willingness and any talk of both feet in and any talk of commitment

why, why do I change you try to change you when you really don t want me to

you go back to being so oblivious

end.
