Intro: Banjo in A

Verse 1:

A
When I was a child
I used to love to watch the rain
I d stand under the downspout
Let the water cool my brain
I never thought to worry
If the river rose too high
That all the seeds we planted
Would get washed out with the tide

D
But now I am a man

And I need a place to hide

Chorus:

A
But there s nowhere to run

B
And there s no place to hide

D
Where the water runs free

E A
And the mud starts to slide

Break: Fiddle in A

Verse 2:

When I was a young man
I could work through wind and rain
I never thought to worry
Had no reason to complain
I thought that I was standing
On a rock so firm and strong
But it was easy then to see
Just what was right
And what was wrong
But now I am a man
I won't be hanging round too long

Break: Mandolin in A

Verse 3:

When I was a child
I used to love to watch the rain
I'd stand under the downspout
Let the water cool my brain
I never thought to worry
If the river rose too high
And all the dreams we planted
Would get washed out with the tide

Repeat Chorus

Where the water runs free

E

And the mud starts to slide
