If I was man enough to break your wrist
 I d send you back to rethink all who made your list
 Of ones to care and call and fix from love
 Mirror on the wall that won t release your right to trust
 We re all the packs of souls we tried to save
 Burn hot the bodies these souls have no hold on me
 My love I m crying I have never sold
 The world the truth about this place
 Just please don t you

Chorus 2 (same as first)

Don t dig a foxhole
 I ll build a new home
 That would lie on pavement
 Solid foundation

For a new way of life
 For a point to survive

Don t dig a foxhole
 I ll build a new home
 That would lie on pavement
 Solid foundation

For a family you ll grow
 Two daughters you ll show
 How a dark place found light
 How a heart might grow bright

I ll build a new home
That would lie on pavement
Solid foundation

I ll build a new home
That would lie on pavement
Solid foundation

For a new way of life
For a point to survive

Two daughters you ll show
How a dark place found light
And a heart might grow bright
