

Texas 81

Amanda Anne Platt & The Honeycutters

[Intro]

G C

[Verse 1]

G C
We sat out on the front steps and shared a cigarette.

G C
That was Texas, '81, we were young but starting to forget.

D C
We watched the neighbors go to bed.

D C G C
They fed the dog and shut the lights, and we were on our own again.

[Verse 2]

G C
We both knew that you'd be leaving before the kids woke up for school.

G C
You'd never been the kind for keeping, I'd never been nobody's fool.

D C
But as the sun began to rise.

D C G
We were running out of shadows to hide ourselves behind.

[Chorus]

G Bm
Don't let go yet.

Am D G
Would you love me one more time, before we raise the blinds and make the bed?

G C
My little train wreck.

Am D
Your eyes are smiling but your cheeks are wet.

[Interlude]

G C

[Verse 3]

G C
We fell asleep just like we used to, legs all tangled in the sheets.

G C
I know you dreamed that bus to Houston, heard you talking in your sleep.

D C
I would have held you all day long.

D C G
But when I opened up my eyes you were already gone.

[Chorus]

G Bm
Donâ€™t let go yet.

Am D G
Would you love me one more time, before we raise the blinds and make the bed?

G C
My little train wreck.

Am D
Your eyes are smiling but your cheeks are wet.
