[Verse 1]
Am   C
The distance from the man that I am to the man
        G   E/G#
I wanna be
Am   C
The time it takes to realize, time is the distance I G need

[Chorus 1]
                          F
But I was born impatient
                        Am

```
And I was born unkind
                        C
But I refuse to belive I have to be the same
                              G        E/G#
person I was born when I die
        E/G#              Am           C
Cause change is alright
                   Am
Change is alright

[Verse 2]
            C                              G
I am not proud of all the choices I made for a lot
           E/G#
of my life
    Am            C                          G
Following the shadow when I damn well know that behind is the light

[Chorus 2]
                            F
But I ve lied to my mother
                              Am
I made people feel like hell
                  C
But I refuse to belive I have to keep being cruel
                          G
cause I am a coward myself
                  F
And time is impatience
                    Am
No patience takes time
            C
Excuses do only do good if you re waiting around
     G
to die

[Bridge]
      F                        Am
And everyone is born with selfworth
    G                        Am
How easlily it turns to doubt
      F                        C
It takes letting go of what we know we can t live
     G
without

[Chorus 3]
                          F
But the blood in the water
                            Am
Is the blood of my brother
```

We both learned it didn t mean a thing in the end
                                    G
if one was thicker than the other

[Chorus 4]
                        F
And I ve tried having faith
                        Am
But I ll rot like a dog
            C
Cause I ve always been scared of loving
                    E   Am   C
someone just a little bit more than I am loved

[Outro]
G   E/G#   Am   C   G
    And losing is fine
E/G#   Am
Everything is fine
