my friend you are unique but not always

G Am D7
some stranger you don t know has surely felt your pain

G Am D7
some stranger out there might even own your name

C Am
and said all the things you ve once said

C Am
your thoughts existing in someone else s head

G Am D7
it s true you are one of my favorite books to read

G Am D7
i have to thank you now, you ve changed the way i think

G Am D7
and with each page i turn, there you are

G Am D7
and with each word i read rings true in my heart

C Am D7
while i was waiting i found something i was missing

C Am D7
might not have been a man, but why waste good-willed love on wishing

G Am D7
please don t confuse me with your devastating stare-downs

G Am D7
i ll hold your mirror all you have to do is turn around

C Am D7 C
so you can see the face you make as you are giving out your soul

Am D7
are you the only one who doesn t already know

G Am D7
i used to think i was the only one

G Am D7
i used to think i was the only one

G Am D7
i used to think i was the only one

C Am

but i ve learned quite a few things since then
C Am
i ve learned that no one ever really is the only one

my friend if it s alive, it will do anything
G Am D7
and if it s strong as well, believe it will go there
G Am D7
and if it s full of love, know it is capable of
G Am D7
emptying itself out at any point at all
G Am D7
just know the height you reach is the distance you could fall

C Am D7
know your own heart well it s the one that s worth most of your time
C Am D7
know your own heart well you could be surprised at what you find
