

Such a simple song that took me frustratingly long to figure out. I rated it at only because the rhythm and timing is difficult, which is to be expected because it is animal after all.

You and me
Chained to the Thumb piano
Walk down streets
With red in our clothes

You and me
Under clear
Umbrellas
I said that once an eve
I m drying your
Bones

I feel like a ghost, I ve got the skeleton face
And I ll live in a house with a bunch of people
And I can feel your rhythm if you feel my rhythm
It s a pie
And it s berries in my heart bread
Said it s berries in my heart bread

You and me
Pushing A
Thumb pin
When we re good and ready
We can swim in the flood

I feel like a ghost, I ve got the skeleton face
I own a secret tomb and I ll never be late
And I can feel your rhythm if you feel my rhythm
It s a pie
And it s berries in my heart bread
Said it s puts berries in my heart bread

You and me
We re hooking our Eyes a little
In a tree
Where the arches gleam
Below

Our highs sing
While familiar creams

Swap around a little stall
Lean on me
And we can watch the sun
Build home

I feel like a ghost who's got a skeleton face
I crawl around behind you in the shadows place
And I can feel your rhythm if you feel my rhythm
It's a cry
And it's berries in my heart bread
Said it's berries in my heart bread

I feel like a ghost who's got a skeleton face
But now I live in a house with a country gate
And I can feel your rhythm if you feel my rhythm
It's a cry
And it's berries in my heart bread
Said it's berries in my heart bread
