ANOUK: One Word

Album: Hotel New York

Tabbed by: Evert Lancel

On CD the song is played in a lower tuning (Eb). I here put it in standard tuning.

If you want to play along with the song, than you need to either tune your guitar half a note lower, or make a copy of the song in higher pitch, using some free sound editing software (Audacity). That s a lot easier than retuning all the time.

Chords in Standard Tuning:

D add9 sus4 x54030 (for short Dadd9..)

Am9 x05500

Dsus2 xx0230

Asus2 x02200

Em7 022030 (I like 02x030, because the basses come out stronger)

Ebm7 x24232

G 355433

Csus2 x35533

The strumming rhythm is very important: The first short strums should be on the bass tones only and the short strums for the rest of the measure should emphasis the higher tones (while playing the base strings as well. Although it varies all the time

(just listen well), in a 16th measure it is basically like this

(V = strumming downwards, A = strumming upwards):

|V-V-VAVA--VAVA--|
