I thought I saw you in the battleship
 D   Bm
But it was only a look-a-like
   A
She was nothing but a vision trick
D   Bm
Under the warning light
   F#m   A   F#m
She was close, close enough to be your ghost
 A   D   Bm   A
But my chances turned to toast when I asked her if I could call her your name

I thought I saw you in the rusty hook
 D   Bm
Huddled up in a wicker chair
I wandered over for a closer look
D   Bm
And kissed whoever was sitting there
   F#m   A   F#m
She was close and she held me very tightly
 A   D   Bm   A   F#m A F#m E
 Til I asked awfully politely, please, can I call you her name?

Bm
I smelt your scent on the seatbelt
E                                A      D  E

I thought I saw you in the parrots beak
 D                 Bm
Messing with the smoke alarm
It was too loud for me to hear her speak
D                Bm
And she had a broken arm
F#m           A
It was close, so close that the walls were wet
F#m          A          D   Bm                      C#m
And she wrote it as electroset, no you cant call me her name

 A                  C#m
Tell me where s your hiding place
A                 C#m
I m worried I ll forget your face

I saw your sister in a cornerstone
D                      Bm
On the phone to the middle man
When I saw that she was on her own

I thought she might understand
        F#m              A                  F#m
She was close, well you couldn t get much closer

She said I m really not supposed to but yes
        Bm                      A
