

Love Is a Laserquest
Arctic Monkeys

[Intro] G

Do you still feel younger than you thought you would by now?

Or darling have you started feeling old yet?

Don't worry, I'm sure that you're still breaking hearts, with the efficiency
That only youth can harness

And do you still think love is a laserquest?

Or do you take it all more seriously?

I've tried to ask you this, in some daydreams that I've had

But you were always busy being make believe

And do you look into the mirror, to remind yourself, you're there?

Or has somebody's goodnight kisses got that covered?

When I'm not being honest, I pretend that you were just some lover

Now I can't think of air, without thinking of you

I doubt that comes as a surprise

And I can't think of anything to dream about

I can't find anywhere to hide

And when I'm hanging on, by the rings around my eyes

And I convince myself I need another

For a minute it gets easier to pretend that you were just some lover

( G Em Am D )

When I'm pipe and slippers and rocking chair
