Intro - D with intermittent Dsus (hammer your pinky in the 3rd fret on the high e string)

D                    A                    D                    G
lately i ve been thinking not about what you said
D                    A                    G
but what you did if you re behind it you decide i ll survive
D                    A                    D
i ve been spending time looking out
G                    D                    A                    G
instead of in gotta keep reminding myself begin means end
A                    G                    D
and i m walking through the alleys in the morning
A                    G                    D                    A
and i m trying to do some thinking i ve gotta know this time for sure
G A                    D
tell me wh-y i m feeling pressured
G A                    D (like intro w/ Dsus)
tell me wh-y you feel alright but still i don t

D                    A                    D                    G
i caught myself believing every word that was said
D A                    G
and that s fine i ll learn to depend on myself in time
A                    G                    D
cause i made some decisions that just barely
A                    G                    D                    A left me with an opinion or identity of my own
G A D
tell me wh-y i feel below you
G A                    D (like intro w/ Dsus)
tell me wh-y you feel alright but still i don t

F                    G
would you feel like a stranger if i turned and walked away?
D                    A
would you care if i stayed?
F                    G
the many times i ve been through this have i learned from mistakes i ve made?
D                    A
i may try and if i fall i ll pick myself up again

D                    A                    D                    G
lately i ve been thinking not about what you said
D                    A                    G
but what you did if you re behind it you decide i ll survive
D                    A                    D
i ve been spending time looking out

G                          D                  A  G
instead of in gotta keep reminding myself begin means end
          A                          G                          D
i don t want your lines and i don t want your sympathy
          A                          G                          D                  A
cause i m trying to break old habits and i want to do that on my own
          G  A                          D
tell me wh-y i m feeling pressured
          G  A          D (like intro with Dsus)
tell me wh-y you feel alright but still i don t

(let that D ring out and pat yourself on the back, you just learned a great fucking song!)
