all these faces, none the same

D

how can there be so many personalities

G

so many lifeless, empty hands

C

so many hearts in great demand

Am

and now my sorrow seems so far away

until i m taken by these bolts of pain

G

but i turn them off and tuck them away

till these rainy days that make them stay

Am

and then i ll cry so hard to these sad songs

and the words still ring, once here, now gone

G

and they echo through my head every day

and i don t think they ll ever go away

just like thinking of your childhood home
