

Epitath

Badly Drawn Boy

Epitath by Badly Drawn Boy of the album Hour of the Bewilderbeast Transcribed by Ryan T Rockers esq.D

G Please don t leave me wanting more E

G I hope you

die E

G there s no need to say why A

D just promise that you ll try to give me all you can I ll never ask for more there s new life through the door the cradle and falls as new fruit fills the tree cements the melody to signify we re free our troubles passing through decaying simple times I ll tread your trail with pride semantics on the side (?) I ve nothing better please don t leave me wanting more I hope you never die there s no need to say why just promise that you ll try I m pretty sure that s it. I was listening to a live version cause I think he s in a different tuning on album, but thats it basically. Any suggestions are welcome.