

From: Stephen Denommee
Subject: The Wrong Man was Convicted
Date: Wed, 6 Sep 95 19:06:52 EDT

>From the Album: Maybe You Should Drive
Capo 3rd fret

D                    G                    C
The wrong man was convicted.
D                    G
You know, I did the deed.
C                    G
I thought that you would wait for me.
Am7                    D
Your wants I needn t heed.
G                    C
The wrong man lies beside you Em7                    C
and waits for you to wake.
D
And all because I lacked conviction

Am7 D Em
the judgment s my mistake.

Em C G
Who s breathless now?

D C G
Who only hyperventilates?

Em C G
Who d die for you?

D C G
Who s dying inside anyway?

D Em7
Which one of us is sunshine and

D Em7
which one s growing dim?

D Em7
While two men dream of you at night

Am7 D
do you just dream of him?

CHORUS

Dm F
Who s lonely now?

bflat C
Who s reaching out for no one?

Cadd9 Gm
Who s lonely now?

A D
It takes one to know one.

Em C G
I changed my mind;

D C G
You said that I could change it back.

Em C G
I wanted space,

D C G
and now change has fallen through the cracks.

D Em7
If I m again beside your body,

D Em7
don t tell me where it s been.

D Em7
It s cruel, unusual punishment

Am7 D
to kiss fingerprinted skin.

CHORUS

D Em D Em
it s my mistake, it s my mistake.

Done by Steve Denommee (stepdeno@village.ca) Sept. 4, 1995
all comments or BNL chat welcome