Tomorrow May Not Be Better
Bastian Baker

Capo V

```
Em                        C
 It is hard to describe how I feel inside
     G                      Bm
 It s even worse to see nobody by my side
       Em                        C
 It is four in the morning I just shot the TV
     G                        Bm
 I m going to bed leaving my dreams on MTV

 Em     C    G     Bm     Em     C    G     Bm

           Em                   C
 I got no reason to wake up, tomorrow I could sleep,
 G              Bm                   Em                    C
 All day or start something, somehow coz sunrise and sunset will come forever
     G                   Bm
 My illness leaves me weak-kneed and fevered.
         Em                   C
 It is not only a headache: I also feel afraid
    G                      Bm
 I worry all the time when the panic attacks I m scared
             Em                   C
 I feel like my soul is empty, my life s deprived of sense.
    G                           Bm
 I always want to scream out as loudly as I can

       Em                    C
 It is hard to describe how I feel inside
       G                Bm
 It s even worse to see nobody by my side

       Em                         C
 I m afraid of the future and I regret the past.
           G                           Bm
 And when I see those old pictures it s all gone by so fast
         Em                      C
 Only a quarter of my life up but all hope is dead
```

```
         G                                        Bm
I ll be confined to an office; it s not what I had planned.
            Em                           C
In this abyss of what s to come I don t know where I stand.
                 G                          Bm
Someone should stretch out a rope now, stretch out a rope!
        Em                              C                      G
I put myself in a big mess, I m not sure I understand what people talk about
           Bm
What they talk about

          Em                     C
It is hard to describe how I feel inside
      G                   Bm
It s even worse to see nobody by my side
