Painted Eyelids Beck

This song comes from the One Foot in the Grave album on K records. If you don t have it, I would highly recomend its immediate purchase.

These chords are played by hitting the lowest note first followed by a few strums, and that pattern is repeated. Your best bet is to listen to the CD for the exact rhythm. Also, there may be some pulloffs/hammerons around the A chord (Perhaps a second guitar?). Anyway, this is pretty much it. Any corrections or additions will be greatly appreciated.

Intro: D I wake up and look upon your painted eyelids The world is your oyster and the trashbags are your kids The ceiling is invisible there s a bird sinkin through the sky and every hour that passes is teachin me how to cry Chorus(kind of): Α7 Cuz it s lonely here in the ugly part of town the buildings are all vacant and the telephones are down There s a police siren singin like a tiger with no skin the sewer drain is glowin and I don t know what state I m in And the river is on fire and there s chemicals and debris All the roads are blocked off it s just too hard to see Α7 So cancel my appointment and set up a whole new show Α7 Cuz I m in need of a good hot meal and a life to call my own D-A-G-F (Harmonica solo over verse chords 1x) So get me a plate of money and get me a blanket and a chair The limitations are limitless they re floating through the air Α7 Cuz it s real and it s true the things I see in you D A7

And there s nothin that I wouldn t talk about with the clearest dream that ever drifted by...
