The good lord is such a good lord with such a good mother too they have blessed me in the good graces of you I have heard a hundred violins crying
And I have seen a hundred white doves flying

Chorus:

But nothing is as beautiful as when she believes when she believes when she believes when she believes
when she believes when she believes in me

How good it must feel to be so young and free and a song that pleases a queen will always please me I have heard the wisest of wisdom and I have dined in palaces and kingdoms

But nothing is as beautiful as when she believes
when she believes when she believes in me

when she believes when she believes in me
