Bm, A, Bm

Bm                    A                    Bm

Holy world hidden in pain,

Bm                    A                    G

Pain that flies through the air

Bm                    A                    G

Glance of sadness you could perceive

Bm                    A                    Bm

Gazes that strengthen your heart

Bm                    A                    Bm

Shinning sun light the town

Bm                    A                    G

The evil hides in the dark

Bm                    A                    G

Children looking for in the sky

Bm                    A                    Bm

Quietness and peace for their lives

G                    A                    Bm

Winds of love caress their faces

G                    A                    G Bm

Angels hold their hearts

G            A            G                    Bm
Smiling faces feeling the light
                  G                    A
Pure and innocent hearts
                                  Bm
Shine in the dark
