Loving You Too Long Billy Bragg

```
Intro: G - C - D (2x)
                             D
Love is a fire that burns,
              C
                             D
Love is a wheel that turns,
             F#
Love is a thunderstorm
With rain to wash us dry.
Love is the leaf at the top of the tree,
Once love was you and me,
Once love rained down
In a thunderstorm of passion.
                          Em
All these things I see,
            C/D
Are haunting me.
                            G
                                         D
I ve been loving you, for too long.
                                       D/E
                                                C/D
I ve been loving you, for too long.
Love is the game she plays,
Love is the good old days,
Love is a shooting star that burns
So bright on that special night.
And love is the promised land,
Love has slipped through my hands,
Love has disappeared
Like a rocket into the ocean.
All these things I see,
Are haunting me.
I ve been loving you, for too long.
