

Lands End
Blue Sky

words and music by Michael Seibt

Am                    C                    C                    Am
Wave by wave is rolling on / and breaking at the rocks
Am                    C                    C                    G
The wind is pulling at my hair / in the morning six o'clock
Am                    F                    F                    C
The end of a cold winter night / the beginning of a new day
F                    G                    Am
This is lands end, a stopover on my way

Last week I thumbed a Diesel down / thousand miles away from here
Brussels, Porto and Lisbon / cities came and disappeared
The next stop is America / far away in the West
This is lands end, the last place to rest

Refrain

C                    G                    F                    C
I am on the journey to the center of my own
C                    G                    F                    Am
And I know I have to go ten-thousand miles and more
C                    G                    F                    C
It was time to take my matters into my own hands
C                    G                    F                    Am
That is the reason why I am standing on the rock of lands end

I am coiling up my sleeping bag / setting out for the road
A drizzling rain is falling down / I am shivering in my coat
The way is long, the ocean wide / my way is my reward
Yeah, lands end is the right place to start.

Refrain ...

I am just in time to catch / the next freedom ship
A few month later and I will / stroll on the Sunset Strip
But before our ship / will reach the open sea
I am sure, lands end will wave to me

Refrain ...
